

DEAD MAN'S FACE EATEN BY CROWS

GHASTLY FIND IN THE WOODS NEAR RACINE.

Remains of Nicholas Hilborn, Who Disappeared Last January Discovered—Revolver Beside the Body Told the Tale of Suicide—Some Other State Specials.

Racine, Wis., April 2.—[Special]—The body of a man was found in the woods near here this morning, and a revolver that lay near by, told the story of suicide. The flesh on the face was eaten away by crows. The body was identified as that of Nicholas Hilborn, a prominent Scandinavian who disappeared last January.

Madison, Wis., April 2.—G. A. Lund died here of laudanum poisoning. It is supposed he took the drug with suicidal intent.

CRUSHED BY THE MOVING ICE.

Many Buildings and Boats Are Injured At Oshkosh—The Floods.

Oshkosh, Wis., April 2.—A dozen buildings and half as many boats were crushed and ruined, by moving ice, and the whole settlement at Fishermen's point, of which the destroyed buildings were a part, is menaced. It is surrounded by a glittering wall of ice fifty feet high, which is studded with boulders and uprooted trees. This is the effect of an ice "shove," caused by a brisk west wind beating down on the surface of Lake Winnebago, which is still covered with ice. When the ice begins moving it is irresistible. There is talk of blasting the head of the column with dynamite.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., April 2.—The greater portion of the ice on the Chippewa river below the dam has gone out but another danger threatens the bridges on the river. An ice jam three miles long is slowly moving down the river. The flat country back of the jam is flooded for miles. There are millions of feet of logs in the ice and if the entire mass comes down in a body, great damage will be done.

Osceola, Wis., April 2.—The balance of the draw span to the wagon bridge across the St. Croix river collapsed. The loss is about $10,000.

THE WOODMEN WIN THEIR SUIT.

May Exclude Liquor Dealers From Their Membership.

La Crosse, Wis., April 2.—Judge Wyman decided the case of Loeffler against the order of Modern Woodmen in favor of the defendant. It was brought to test the rule excluding members engaged in liquor selling, the rule having been adopted after the plaintiff became a member. Half a dozen cases were brought. Mr. Loeffler's differing from the others in that he was not in the prohibited avocation when he joined, while all others were. The court held fully with the order sustaining its right to determine qualifications of members and exclude any person or class. An appeal is probable.

Elkhorn Pioneer Dead.

Elkhorn, Wis., April 2.—Delos Harrington, a resident of Elkhorn and vicinity since the year 1837, died at his home here, aged 66 years. He was a native of New York state.

Thieves Chloroform Racine Family.

Fell Through a Trestle.

Stevens Point, April 2.—While catching a ride on a switch train, Roy Rivers, eighteen years of age, fell off the top of a box car and through a trestle, twenty-five feet. He broke his left leg and his right arm, and dislocated both wrists, besides being otherwise seriously injured.

At April Term of Court.

May Elect a Democrat.

Louisville, Ky., April 2.—Three more ballots were taken in the senatorial fight Thursday without changing the result. It is said that the silver and gold Democrats have agreed to cast their strength for State Senator Henry L. Martin, gold Democrat, for United States senator, and that he will be elected with the assistance of three Republicans, who will not vote for Dr. Hunter, the Republican nominee.

THE FARMERS ARE COMBINING

National Organization to Control the Products of the Land.

Toledo, Ohio, April 2.—The largest scheme the farmers of this country have ever inaugurated is under way. It is called the Agriculturists, National Protective Association, originated at Lancaster, Pa., and incorporated under the laws of New Jersey. A supreme board is composed of one representative from each state, and each state, district and county is regularly and carefully organized.

The members are all oathbound and the farmers are taking to it as they never accepted anything before in the history of America. Representative Jonas Stanbery is at the head of this country's organization, while C. P. Griffin and others are members. The project has been conducted with great secrecy, and yet it is claimed that the membership already numbers fully 1,200,000. In 1898 it is designed to compel people outside the order to import their farm products, and county and corporation warehouses will be erected and placed in charge of county boards, who will have absolute control. From these warehouses goods will be shipped as may be deemed necessary under national direction. The farmer will raise all wheat in one locality, oats in another, corn in another, and so on.

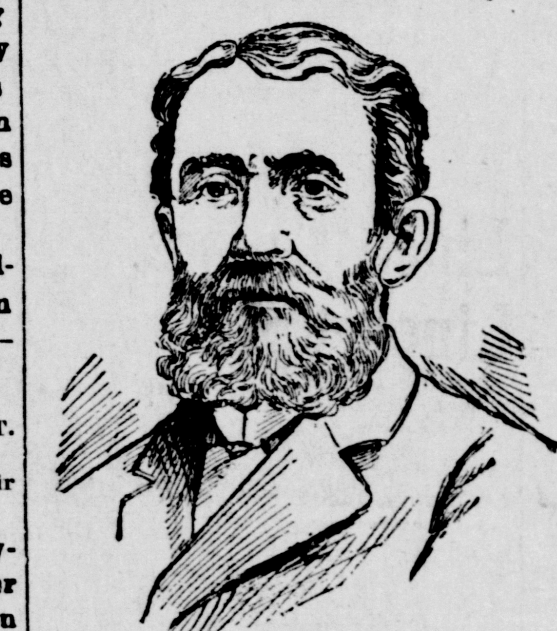

The national board of finance is now at work on a neat but complicated scale for the division of profits, and everything will go through the hands of a sovereign body, much on the order of communistic organizations. Two-thirds of the leading farmers in this part of the state are said to be already organized. The ultimate design is the absolute control and marketing of all farm products and farm animals.

UNCLE SAM'S SHIPS TO PASS

The Blockade of Crete Will Not Be Recognized.

Chicago, April 2.—The special correspondent of the Tribune at Vienna sends the following:

I learn that Secretary of State Sherman has made reservations respecting the blockade of Crete, alleging that it cannot legitimately be regarded as affecting the United States, that government not being a signatory power to the Berlin treaty.

London, April 2.—The Spectator and the Chronicle openly invite American ships to dare the admirals, since no blockade is legal unless war is actually declared.

GRATEFUL TO AMERICA.

Prominent Cretan Expresses Appreciation of Our Efforts.

Athens, April 2.—The Cretans will try to run the blockade of their island under the American flag. They are now seeking a vessel flying the stars and stripes in which to send a load of provisions to Crete. They think the warships of the powers dare not fire on an American vessel.

I had an interview with M. Reniere, for forty years president of the celebrated Cretan committee in Athens. He knows more about Cretan affairs than any other man living. He said: "We are trying to find an American vessel, which we will load with flour and bread only. We will try to send this under the American flag through the blockade. We do not think the powers would fire on such a vessel. We feel great gratitude to Americans for aid during the insurrection of 1866, when whole cargoes of clothing and food were sent to Crete."

Wade Hampton Seriously Ill.

Washington, April 2.—Wade Hampton of South Carolina is very ill.

PLANS ARE MADE TO SAVE RIVERA

SENATOR ALLEN THINKS WE SHOULD INTERFERE.

Resolution to that Effect Laid On the Table, Owing to Objections By Mr. Hoar—Time Passed In Executive Session—General News of the Capital.

Washington, April 2.—The Cuban question was revived in the senate Thursday, after a long period of comparative calm. Four distinct Cuban resolutions were brought forward in rapid succession.

The tariff bill passed by the house was received by the senate as soon as the session opened. There were no formalities as to its reference, and without action or comment the presiding officer, Mr. Hobart, referred the bill to the committee on finance.

Mr. Allen (pop., Neb.) presented a resolution reciting that Gen. Rivera of the Cuban forces had been captured by the Spanish and was about to be tried by drum-head court-martial and shot, and protesting against such trial as contrary to the rules of civilized warfare.

Mr. Hoar objected to the resolution unless it was allowed to go to the committee. He said it would be a clear affront to any nation with which we were at peace to recite in a resolution by the American congress that, whereas, such nation was about to commit an atrocity, congress protested. Such a resolution by one of the European nations toward the United States would set our people aflame. He closed with a decisive objection to the present consideration of the resolution and it went over.

Mr. Morgan's resolution asking the president for the letters of Gen. Gomez to himself and Mr. Cleveland was presented and adopted without division.

A resolution of Mr. Mills (Tex.) was next presented and agreed to without division. It follows: "Resolved—That the committee on foreign relations is instructed to inquire what, if any, obligations the United States has assumed toward the people of Cuba by asserting and maintaining the right to prevent the acquisition of that island by any European power and compelling its people to remain subject to the dominion of Spain, and report by bill or otherwise."

Mr. Morgan came forward with a sort of climax to the Cuban resolutions. He presented a joint resolution recognizing the existence of a state of war in Cuba. The resolution was read several times at the request of senators, who appeared to be greatly interested in it. The resolution remained on the table at Mr. Morgan's request. After this brief lively session, devoted almost entirely to Cuba, the senate at 12:55 p. m., went into executive session, and at 5:20 adjourned until Monday.

Delay Voting on Treaty.

Washington, April 2.—The senate Thursday, in executive session, concluded its consideration of all amendments to the arbitration treaty. The voting on additional amendments began at 4 o'clock, after three hours of general debate, and in the hour and a half which followed about a dozen propositions were passed upon. Two only were adopted, except some making verbal changes. Of those adopted, one, offered by Senator Bacon, exempts the claims against southern states from the operations of the treaty, and the other, introduced by Senator Morgan, eliminates article 8 of the treaty. No day was fixed for a final vote.

Admiral John Russell Dead.

Washington, April 2.—Rear-Admiral John H. Russell, retired, died at his residence here Thursday after an illness of about a month. He was born in Frederick, Md., in 1827, and entered the navy as a midshipman when only 14 years old. He was commissioned captain in 1874, commodore in 1883 and promoted to be rear-admiral March 4, 1886. He was retired in 1886, having seen forty-five years' active service.

Thinks Congress Has Power.

Washington, April 2.—Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania, who was a member of the sub-committee of the ways and means committee which investigated the question of the power of congress to provide for the enforcement of the duties of the new tariff bill before its enactment into law, has prepared an argument in support of the validity of the amendment.

The Public-Debt Statement.

Washington, April 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that, at the close of business Wednesday, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,003,962,200, a decrease for the month of $8,638,254. This decrease is accounted for by a corresponding increase in the amount of cash on hand.

Is Ordered to Honolulu.

San Diego, Cal., April 2.—Admiral Beardslee has received preparatory sailing orders for Honolulu. He expects to leave early next week with the flagship Philadelphia. The order is taken here as an indication that the government is apprehensive of trouble in Hawaii over the Japanese question.

LIVES ARE IN PERIL FROM THE FLOODS

LOW LANDS UNDER WATER AT ST. PAUL.

Houses Are Swept Away and Live Stock Drowned—Loss of Life Reported at St. Louis—Immense Property Damage—Along the Mississippi River—Heavy Snow Fall.

St. Paul, Minn., April 2.—The Mississippi has reached sixteen feet, two feet above the danger line.

Between Minneapolis and St. Paul 1,000 families have been made homeless by the flood. They lived on the flats along the river and in the lowlands of West St. Paul. The families that lived to the left of the Inter-Urban bridge at Minneapolis have been driven out and a vast body of water rushes over the spot where their homes used to be. It has swept away many houses. On the west side the water is encroaching on the Robert street bridge. Only two streets in the flats are free from water, and those only for three squares. The water is coming up and is gradually submerging all the low-lands. Already 200 homes over there are under water, and more disappear with each succeeding hour.

Looking from the pier of old Broadway bridge toward the south the west side looks like an immense lake, with a house-top sticking above the surface here and there to relieve the monotony. Many of the residences farther down are covered, and the lake is floating full of all sorts of household goods, fences, barn roofs, trees and lumber of all descriptions.

By a sudden rise of the river at South St. Paul Thursday evening 150 sheep were drowned. There were 80,000 sheep in the pens at that point which are being removed to other yards. Millions of feet of lumber got away from the boom companies to the north and floated over St. Anthony falls. The Mississippi and Rum River boom company estimates its loss at $60,000.

The James river, two miles east of Mitchell, S. D., has washed out 1,200 feet of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul track.

A dispatch from Vermillion, S. D., says thirty bridges have been swept away by high water in that county.

At Sabin people are in great distress.

TWO LIVES LOST.

Sudden Flood Overwhelms a Suburb of St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., April 2.—This city had a touch of the flood early Thursday morning. Two persons were drowned and four or five others are missing. The destruction of property will reach $100,000. George W. Tate, aged 70, was drowned near Brentwood. His daughter, Nellie Tate, aged 6, was drowned also. The missing are John O'Fallon, who was in camp at the foot of Blue Ridge Hill, and Phillip Phelps and twelve others, who were camped near Brentwood. Five children in the Tate home were rescued by two men in a boat.

The river broke over its levees, just east of Cheltenham, in the West St. Louis suburbs, flooding nearly half of the village and hundreds of acres of bottom lands. In less than two hours there were fifteen to twenty feet of water in the Blue Ridge valley. At daylight the police manned rowboats and worked until noon rescuing people from inundated houses. All the way from Clayton to Carondelet the houses were washed away and people had narrow escapes.

At Ellendale, just out of the city limits, a dozen people were saved in boats. The zoological gardens in Forest park lost twelve of its deer, and several of the larger animals were taken out of the water by the police.

FIGHTING BIG DRIFTS.

Efforts Being Made to Clear Away the Snow Blockade in Wyoming.

Omaha, Neb., April 2.—The big blows are forcing a way through the giant drifts of snow that have blocked the western railroads for the last forty-eight hours. The blocked trains are going out slowly, but it is the impression at different railroad offices that the roads will be opened within another twenty-four hours.

Laramie, Wyo., April 2.—Business here is practically suspended. In the main streets the snow in places is ten feet high, while residences on the outskirts of the city are in some instances completely buried by drifts.

Oshkosh, Wis., April 2.—A dozen buildings and half as many boats were crushed and ruined Thursday by moving ice, and the whole village at Fishermen's Point is menaced. It is surrounded by a wall of ice fifty feet high and studded with boulders and uprooted trees. All this is the effect of an ice "shove" caused by a brisk west wind beating down on Lake Winnebago, which is still covered with ice.

Cyclone in Arkansas.

Star City, Ark., April 2.—A tornado struck this town Wednesday night. John Young lost his barn and stables. Bailey Donaldson lost his dwelling. On Bayou Bartholomew, John C. Hendricks' large plantation was razed of its buildings, including two large storehouses. His large plantation is almost a total wreck. On this place three persons have been killed outright, and a large number are reported seriously, some fatally, wounded. It will be several days before vehicles of any kind can travel the roads where the cyclone passed. Never in the history of this part of the state has such a cyclone been known. News has reached here of the destruction of several large plantations along Bayou Bartholomew, among them being those of Alf Cogbill, W. C. Lee and Judge Owens.

Died to Save His Father.

Faulton, S. D., April 2.—The family of Solomon Peck, living on the Nixon river bottom, two miles west of town, were surprised by a flood which commenced tearing down the valley, and one son, George Peck, about 18 years old, was drowned while engaged in removing his father, who is in ill health, to a place of safety.

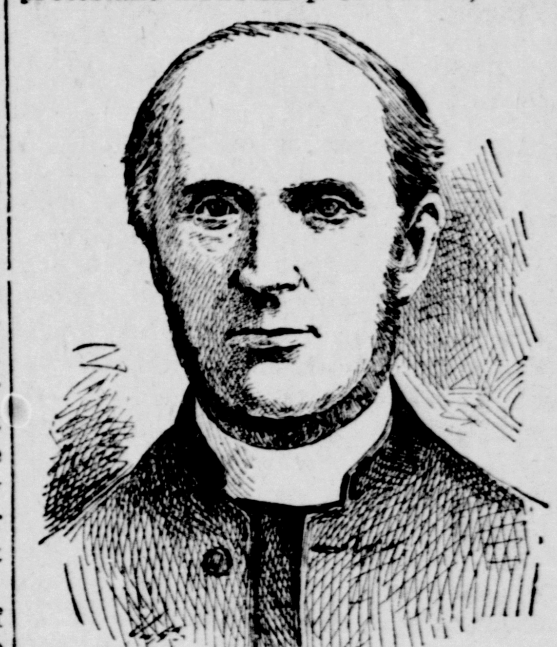

Rainstorm at Quincy, Ill.

Quincy, Ill., April 2.—A rainstorm swept over this section Wednesday night, and as a result the Mississippi flood has risen one foot two inches, the gauge showing fifteen feet four inches above low-water mark. The river is higher than it has been at all, and as it is still rising swiftly the situation is critical in the extreme.

lations to Prince Bismarck upon the occasion of the latter's birthday. The ex-chancellor was born April 1, 1815.

CHANDLER IN NEED OF HELP

Tornado Sufferers Sleep in the Open Streets Amid the Debris.

Chandler, O. T., April 2.—It is feared that the tornado death roll may be considerably increased. Scores of injured are under the care of physicians, who have come here from all parts of Oklahoma. None of the wounded died Thursday though many suffer greatly, and some of them cannot possibly recover. Nearly all the men slept in the streets, where fires were kept blazing. The women were cared for in the few houses which were not destroyed or found shelter in the tents sent from surrounding towns. A thousand people are homeless and half as many are without a thing in the world. Help on a large scale is needed.

Camp for Three States.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 2.—The navy department at Washington proposes to organize a joint camp of instruction for naval militia of Ohio, Michigan and Illinois. This will bring together a force of from 1,500 to 2,000, and will permit of instruction which cannot be given to small bodies of men. The governors of the three states have been notified by Secretary of the Navy Long, and instructed to arrange a satisfactory date.

Miners' Wages Are Reduced.

Ottumwa, Iowa, April 2.—The summer rate of 60 and 70 cents for mining coal went into effect Thursday in this field. The cut was accepted with protest. The men from the Phillips and Lumsden mines, who went out against the cut to 70 cents, which was made at those mines March 1, came back and asked to go to work. They were taken back. It is not believed that there is any probability of the strike which was threatened.

ASKS THE MEMBERS TO GIVE UP PASSES

ASSEMBLYMAN BARNUM INTRODUCES A RESOLUTION.

Matter Was Laid Over Until Tomorrow—Anti-Cigarette Bill Is Sent Through—Board of Agriculture Plan Endorsed—Deer Hunters Must Pay a License Fee.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—[Special] The anti-pass matter was again stirred up in the assembly this morning by Mr. Barnum, of Marathon county, who introduced a resolution calling on all the members of the assembly to turn over their passes to the chief clerk, and return them to the respective railway companies. The resolution has a preamble which recites that the recent action of the house in passing the anti-pass amendment, has made it necessary for the members to give up their passes. The resolution was laid over until tomorrow. Mr. Barnum is very much in earnest in his attitude, and hopes to stir things up before he is done.

The bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes in the state which was passed under suspension of the rules last night, was taken up and passed regularly in order to avoid the danger of irregularity.

The assembly passed the bill creating a state board of agriculture and giving the State Fairs into its charge. Senator Thome's bill providing a license for non-resident deer hunters was passed after several attempts had been made to amend it.

Memorial to Congress Killed.

Madison, Wis., April 2.—There was a sharp debate in the assembly Thursday over the memorial to congress requesting the return of the Marquette statue. A resolution was introduced by Mr. Clason asking the committee on federal relations to report the memorial. Mr. Clason's resolution was adopted without opposition. The memorial was then reported without recommendation and killed by a motion of Mr. Sweeting to have it laid on the table.

KILLED WITH A PENKNIFE

Charles L. Hastings of Jacksonville Hacked to Pieces.

Jacksonville, Ill., April 2.—This city was thrown into a frenzy of excitement Thursday when it became known that a murder of a shocking character had occurred some time Wednesday night, and that Charles L. Hastings was the victim. At first suicide was thought of, but later developments show conclusively that it was murder, and suspicion pointed strongly to Charles L. Draper, one of the most exemplary and highly respected citizens of this place. Mr. Hastings had for some years been chief clerk in the law and abstract office of Judge Edward P. Kirby, and had always been looked upon as a quiet and unassuming man. Thursday morning when the janitor went to the office he found its contents thrown in confusion, furniture broken, and everything bespattered with blood, while on the floor in a pool of blood lay the body of Mr. Hastings, cold and stiff, with large gashes in his throat, on his hands, and cuts and gashes all over his body.

A post-mortem examination was made. The examination disclosed 172 cuts and gashes on his person, none of which was very deep, leading to the conclusion the deed was done with a pocketknife.

Everything about the office showed that a terrible struggle for life had taken place. In the vault where the books of the office are kept, on the desks and tables, shelves, books, and papers were more or less smeared with blood.

The coroner began the investigation in the afternoon, which is not finished. The investigation was held behind closed doors, and but little of the sworn testimony can be learned. However, Charles L. Draper was called to the witness stand, and after having given his testimony the coroner ordered that he be committed to jail and held without bail.

Russian Statesman at Paris.

London, April 2.—A special dispatch from Paris says that Count Muraviev, the Russian minister for foreign affairs, has arrived there unexpectedly from St. Petersburg. It is believed that the Russian minister's journey is connected with the propositions brought forward looking to the settlement of the eastern crisis and the proposed blockade of the ports of Greece.

For the Treasury Department.

Washington, April 2.—It is officially announced that O. L. Spaulding of Michigan and W. B. Howell of New Jersey have been decided on for assistant secretaries of the treasury department. Their nominations probably will be sent to the senate. Both gentlemen are experts in customs matters.

Will Again Visit France.

Paris, April 2.—The Evenement announces that President Faure has been officially informed of the approaching visit of the czar and czarina to France.

GEN. RUGER RETIRES FROM THE SERVICE

THE NOTED SOLDIER REACHED THE AGE LIMIT TODAY.

General Wheaton Will Be Promoted In Consequence, and There Will Be An Advance All Along the Line—Something of the Service Seen By the Former Janesville Man.

Promotion all along the line of the army will follow the retirement of Major General Thomas H. Ruger, whose military career ended today. General Ruger today became sixty-four years of age, and the law declares that when an officer in the army shall have reached that age he shall be retired from active duty. Before June 30, 1882, retirement came at the age of sixty-two, but in that year the law was changed so as to allow General William Tecumseh Sherman to remain at the head of the army for two more years.

These retirements are not sought by officers. They are compulsory, and come rather hard on men in active life and good health, who are perfectly willing to remain in harness for several years to come.

This is shown by the fact that while the law allows a man to retire upon his own petition after forty years of service, very few officers avail themselves of the opportunity. There are at the present time on the retired list thirty-five general officers, most of whom would be of great value to the United States in time of war, and who are yet in good health and possess their faculties in full. Such a man would be General Ruger, who in spite of being sixty-four years of age, is still in the prime of life.

Janesville Soldier's Record.

General Ruger was born on April 2, 1833, at Lima, N. Y. He was a graduate of the class of 1854 of the United States Military Academy. After his graduation he served for a few months in the engineer corps, when he resigned to engage in the practice of law at Janesville. For six years he was a successful lawyer, but when the war broke out, in 1861, he offered his services to the union. Good officers were needed and he was promptly accepted, and he was appointed lieutenant colonel of the Third Wisconsin Infantry. Three months later he became colonel of the regiment and in a year he had risen to be brigadier general of the volunteers.

Gen. Ruger's war record is excellent. He saw service in Shenandoah Valley and in the northern Virginia and Maryland campaigns, being engaged in the battles of Clear Mountain and Antietam. He commanded a brigade in the Rappahannock campaign, taking part in the battle of Chancellorsville, and being advanced to the command of the first division of the Twelfth army corps. This promotion was gained at the battle of Gettysburg where he also won a brevet as a brigadier general in the regular army, for "gallant and meritorious service."

During the Draft Riots.

General Ruger's next important service was during the draft riots in New York, when the citizens of that town tried to evade the performance of their military duty. When the riots had been suppressed he was assigned to duty with the army of General Sheridan, where he took part in numerous battles of the Atlanta campaign.

General Ruger rendered important service when Hood attempted to carry the war into the enemy's country. Ruger met and defeated Hood at Franklin, checking the march before it had hardly begun. His gallant service at Franklin won him a brevet of major general of volunteers. Then General Ruger organized the first division of the Twenty-third corps, and was in command of his division in the operations of North Carolina, being engaged in the operations up the Neuse River, February to March, 1865; action at Weir's Fork, near Kingston, and in the surrender of the Confederate army under General J. E. Johnston, at Darin Station, April 26, 1865. He commanded the department and district of North Carolina from June 27, 1865, to September 1, 1866.

Career Since the War.

After the close of the war General Ruger became a colonel in the regular army on July 28, 1866, along with Nelson A. Miles, Daniel E. Sickles, C. C. Augur, O. I. Wood, Calusha Pennypacker, Benjamin H. Grierson, John Gibson, David S. Stanley and George W. Getty. On the same day Wesley Merritt, John B. Brooke, Frank Wheaton, Elwell S. Otis, S. V. Kautz, G. A. Woodward, Horatio G. Wright and John Newton were made lieutenant colonels. Most of these soldiers have commanded corps or divisions in the volunteer army, and all of them have been retired except Miles, Merritt, Ruger, Brooke and Wheaton. The first three are now major generals, and the fourth will be within a few days at the most. The other men on the list have been retired on account of wounds, disability or age.

General Ruger was assigned to command the Thirty-third infantry, and while in command of his regiment at Atlanta he was made provisional governor of the state of Georgia from January 13 to January 4, 1868, and was in command of the district of the district of Alabama to February 1, 1869.

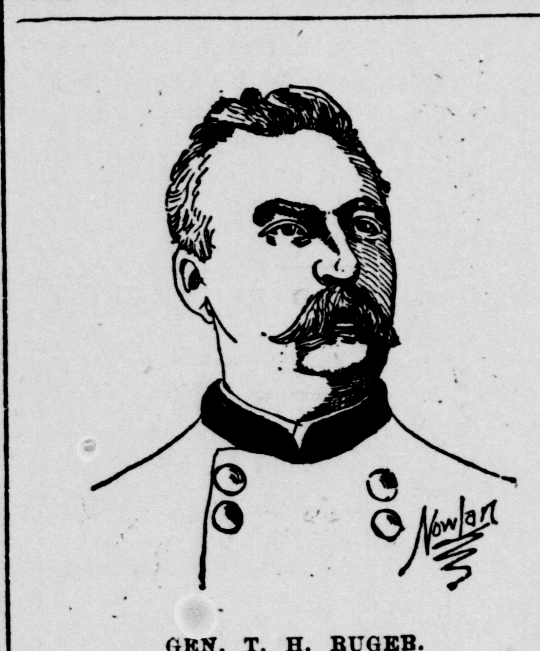

In Charge at West Point.

He was transferred to the Eighteenth infantry March 15, 1869. General Ruger was then detailed to command the department of the south until Sept. 1, 1871, when he was detailed as superintendent of the United States military academy at West Point, where he remained for five years. He then again returned to the command of the army in the southern states, remaining until 1878. He then commanded the district of Montana until May, 1885, and March 19, 1886, was appointed a brigadier general and assigned to the department of Missouri. Subsequently, in turn, he commanded the departments of Dakota, Missouri, Dakota and the Pacific.

When General Miles went to New York Ruger was appointed major general and placed in charge of the department of Missouri, with headquarters in Chicago. When General Miles succeeded General Howard in command of the army Ruger was transferred to the department of the east—Wheaton Succeeds Him.

General Frank Wheaton of Denver, will be General Ruger's successor. Wheaton received a telegram from the war department asking him if he would prefer to move to Chicago and take command of the military department of the Missouri, or remain in Denver during the remainder of his term of service. General General

GEN. T. H. RUGER.

Wheaton replied that he would prefer to remain with the Department of the Colorado. The Department of the Missouri is a major-general's command, and if General Wheaton had longer to serve, he would accept the post, but as he goes upon the retired list early in May, he believes it would be more acceptable to the authorities to order to Chicago the brigadier-general who will be promoted to the next vacancy in the higher grade. General Wheaton is to be retired on May 8, so the president appointed him to the vacancy in order that he may draw a larger salary when retired. The pay of a major general on the active list is $7,500 and a brigadier $5,500. When retired the major general gets $5,625 and the brigadier $4,125.

Means More Promotion.

When the promotion is made of one of the brigadiers to be major general it means a further promotion all along the line. One of the colonels will become brigadier general. Of these there are seven—one, of whom forty are in command of regiments, and therefore line officers eligible to appointment. The ranking officer is William B. Shafter who commands the First infantry. Shafter has held that rank six years longer than any other man. He has been repeatedly passed over, and is likely to be passed over again. It is not unlikely that the man chosen will be Colonel James F. Wade of the Fifth cavalry, who is the ranking cavalry officer and the fifth on the eligible list. Colonel Wade is an Ohioan, a son of the famous Senator Ren Wade, and has a war record which is believed to be better than that of any other of the distinguished officers on the list.

CAN GET $50,000 BY ASKING FOR IT

FORTUNE AWAITS A FORMER JANESVILLE WOMAN.

Her Mother Was the First Music Teacher At the State School For the Blind—Father Was a Miser and Died Rich—Heiress Not Found Yet.

A fortune of $50,000 awaits a former Janesville woman, at Toronto, Canada, if she can be found. Miss Frances E. Willard, the famous temperance advocate, sent by letter a press clipping to Mrs. A. B. Ames of Madison, corresponding secretary of the Wisconsin W. O. T. U., and Mrs. Ames sent it to Mrs. M. B. Millmore of this city:

"Toronto, March 24—Lawrence Walla, who died in St. Michael's hospital Sunday, is now known to have left a fortune of over $50,000. He lived in a filthy hovel, dressed almost in rags and was generally supposed to be in destitute circumstances. No relatives have yet put in an appearance to claim his property, but he is said to have connections both in England and in the United States, and the news of his wealth will doubtless cause them to take more interest in the old man's death."

Miss Willard's father helped to establish the state school for the blind at Janesville and Mrs. Walla and her sister, Miss King, had charge of the musical department of the institution. Mrs. Walla was obliged to separate from her husband about 35 or 40 years ago and is also dead. Their daughter, Mrs. Mary Walla whose married name Miss Willard has forgotten, was an early playmate of the latter, and is supposed to live in Eau Claire or Baraboo or some other city in north central Wisconsin.

Mrs. Ames' letter to Mrs. Millmore referred to the matter as follows: Madison, Wis., March 31, 1897. Mrs. M. B. Millmore: Dear Friend—You have lived in Janesville so many years I thought you might remember some of the characters mentioned in the enclosed clipping, perhaps know Mary Walla's married name or know where someone of her mother's family can be found. Of course if Mary Walla still lives and is in Wisconsin the enclosed item will surely meet her notice, as other newspapers will doubtless copy it. But she may not be in Wisconsin, and we would be glad to know of her whereabouts.

About W. A. Harvey.

This is what the Phoenix (Arizona) Herald, says about our former townsman, W. A. Harvey, brother of Mrs. C. E. Gifford.

"W. A. Harvey, the efficient general freight and passenger agent of the Arizona and South Eastern Railway, who sojourned in Phoenix awhile back and who had not been to Phoenix before for six years, has arrived home at Bisbee. He it was who said 'after an absence of six years and on my return to Phoenix I find such a wonderful change, such a change as to remind one of magic. Such a city and fields of verdure, orange bearing groves, flower gardens, lowing kine, magnificent horses, elegant turnouts, handsome women and such jolly, good fellows! Why, sir, I at one time used to back-pack the Territory—now, I am proud to state that I am glad that I can say that I am an Arizonian.'"

Money Lost and Found.

Justice Clarke was out for a few minutes Tuesday. He was at the depot en-route for Janesville and in removing a letter from his hip pocket dropped a roll of greenbacks containing $50 that he had deposited in said pocket, on the platform. After getting onto the train he missed the currency and when the south "Y" was reached concluded to return and hunt after his lost treasure. Fortunately for his honor an honest young man, Raymond Tolbert, had found the money and it was soon in the hands of the anxious loser.

CHAPLAIN THOMPSON SPEAKS.

Was in Attendance at the Beloit Rifles' Banquet.

Rev. H. W. Thompson, chaplain of the First Regiment, W. N. G. spoke at the banquet given the Beloit Rifles. He was one of the "boys of '61 to '65" and he reminded his old comrades at arms that the "boys" of the W. N. G. were what the veteran soldier was when they marched to the front. He bespoke the sympathy of the community for the Beloit Rifles, they are a fine organization and the city should be proud of them. He told with thrilling effect of a Roman soldier's lamentations over the future of his country when he realized that the "old guard" was going and he wondered who would preserve the nation from its foes. Then the youths of the land in mighty hosts marched by, and he saw that there lay the national security. The grand old army that saved this nation from disunion was fast leaving the scenes of activity, but the national guard stood ready to defend that country secured to them by the blood of the heroes who had gone before. America needs these patriotic soldier schools just as much now as 35 years ago should the American watch word be "Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Liberty."

J. M. Thayer visited Green Bay and helped Howard Lodge No. 72, A. O. U. W. initiate forty eight new members. Welcome Lodge was also organized with fifty eight members. The Green Bay Review says: "Unquestionably nothing better could have happened to the A. O. U. W. than the election of J. M. Thayer, of Janesville, as Grand Master of the order in Wisconsin. With the scarcity of work and money—with an outlook that would prevent men from undertaking more than their simple necessities—he made his plans with an eye single to the advantages of the order which he dearly loves and success has crowned his work. The order is now the third in importance in the world. In Green Bay also there have been 215 applications in 30 days. There are—or will be shortly—500 members in this city. Such a record is remarkable."

Mrs. A. Inven, residing at 720 Henry street Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale at C. D. Stevens' Pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Two years ago, R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown in this section; today Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same in hundreds of communities. Wherever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale at C. D. Stevens' Pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

BULLETS FOR THUGS WHO CAME TO ROB

BOLD BURGLARS WORK IN SECOND WARD.

John B. Ehle Was Sitting Up In Bed, When the Thief Entered—At Peter Thompson's Home, the Same Men Evidently, Were Greeted With Cold Lead.

While John B. Ehle sat bolt upright in bed early this morning, a burglar entered the room with a lighted match in his hand. Mr. Ehle jumped up, and the robber made his escape.

Fifteen minutes later, the same men, evidently, visited the home of Peter Thompson, and were met by shots from Mr. Thompson's revolver. "My God! I'm shot," yelled one of the men after they had bolted out of the house; but there was nothing to indicate that the ball had taken effect, and the police could not locate anyone suffering from a gunshot wound.

Mr. Ehle lives with his son-in-law, Millard F. Ide, at 127 Glen street. At 1:45 o'clock this morning he was awakened by the sound of scratching matches and sat up in bed. An instant later, the burglar entered the room carrying a lighted match which he shaded with his hand. Mr. Ehle jumped out of bed, and called out that thieves were in the house. The robber turned to run, and struck his head against a hanging lamp, making a noise that aroused everyone in the house.

Got No Plunder.

The thieves are thought to be new hands at the business. They had effected an entrance by prying up the kitchen window, and fastening up with a broomstick. A row of potted plants sat on the sill inside the window. Each plant was taken up, and all were found in a row on the ground outside the window this morning. From the kitchen, the robbers ransacked the parlor and other rooms on the ground floor, but were discovered by Mr. Ehle before they had gone up stairs. They did not get any plunder. The fact that they made enough noise scratching matches to awaken Mr. Ehle, is said, by the police, to be evidence that they were not experts. There were two men, one being tall, and the other short.

Thompson Shot At Them.

From the Ide residence, the men evidently went straight to the home of Mr. Thompson, who lives at the corner of Hyatt and Caroline streets. Here they awakened Mr. Thompson while trying to pry open a window in the dining room. Revolver in hand Mr. Thompson crept cautiously down stairs. From the dining room he could see two men at work at the window. Taking deliberate aim at one of the men, Mr. Thompson fired. "My God! I'm shot!" yelled one of the men as they ran away.

This morning the tools used by the men at the Thompson residence, were found on the ground, but there no blood stains were to be seen.

The police were working on the case this morning, but did not learn much of value. So far as they could discover no one had been seen suffering from a gunshot wound and they are inclined to think that neither of the robbers were injured.

A PUNCHING BEE IN SALOON.

Peddler Struck a Farm Hand and Got Into Jail.

Gust Seiler thinks he doesn't need pointers on how to play the game of pool and when William Price tried to post him, he received in return a knockout blow over his left optic. The fracas took place last evening at 8 o'clock in Bahr's saloon at the corner of Milwaukee and Academy street. Price had to get Dr. Joe Whiting to take several stitches in his head after the fight while Seiler lingers in a cell at the county jail. This morning Seiler appeared in court. The case was set for tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and in default of $50 bail he was remanded to jail. Seiler is a wandering peddler while Price is a farm hand who resides near this city.

WHALEN'S OPENING IS DECLARED OFF

NO FESTIVITIES AT THE STATE LINE TONIGHT.

Sheriff Oliver of Winnebago County, Illinois, Descends On the "Joint," and Arrests the Whole Outfit—They Are Now In Jail At Rockford.

There will be no opening at the Rhoda Whalen "hotel" on the state line tonight. Hiram Rivenburg, the proprietor, had just finished a 300 day sentence in the Rockford jail and had the nerve to send Sheriff Oliver an invitation to the "blow out." When the sheriff read the note he made arrangements for an opening on his own hook. Yesterday the sheriff and Deputy Guy Oliver with a pocket full of warrants journeyed to Beloit, where they were met by Deputy Edward Tully. The officers then made for the Rivenburg hotel.

When the officials surrounded the house, there was an emptying of it. Rhody Whalen runs a house just across the street from Rivenburg's and the occupants of both places scurried out like rats leaving a sinking ship. They dashed across the state line, but the men the officers were after, were captured, being Hiram Rivenburg Rhody Whalen, his son Mat, and Peter Rosengale. They were taken to Rockford. The warrants charge the men with selling liquor illegally.

Marshal Appleby, of Beloit, was with the sheriff, and Whalen tried to kill him by throwing bottles at his head. The women in the places were ordered out of town.

New Carpet Samples.

WE have just received about forty samples of high grade velvet and Axminster carpets. We believe we can better serve our customers' interests by selling them high grade carpets from sample. They secure a selection from the choicest new patterns; three or four times as many as though we were obliged to buy the whole pieces. Another good feature is that we do not have to carry remnants and odd pieces over one season to another and by selling our carpets in this manner can make better prices by less than half the usual price. We should be pleased to have you look over these samples whether or not you wish to buy. Bort, Bailey & Co.

MRS. NEILSON FREED BY COURTS DECREE

DIVORCE WAS GRANTED HER THIS MORNING.

Husband Did Not Appear, And It Is Said That He Is Now Located At Earlville, Ill.—Van Etta Case to Come Up Again On Thursday.

Mrs. A. L. Neilson walked out of the circuit court chamber at 10 o'clock this morning as Margaret Neilson. Judge John R. Bennett had granted her a divorce from her husband on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The evidence introduced this morning was all in behalf of Mrs. Neilson, and her husband was not present nor represented.

Attorneys Smith and Pierce, who represented Mrs. Neilson's interests, thought that it was not necessary to add "failure to support" to the bill, as in the "cruel and inhuman treatment" plea enough evidence was introduced. Neilson is now located in Earlville, Ill., where it is said that he is working at his trade.

Judge Bennett will take further action in the matter of reducing George Van Etta's annual income from $2,400 to $1,000. Mr. Van Etta, with his attorneys, Sutherland & Nolan, will be given a hearing by the court on next Thursday morning, so that they may show cause why his income should not be cut down. The lawyers say they have evidence that favors Mr. Van Etta in more ways than one, while creditors say that they will be hand hoping that the court will allow the previous ruling to stand.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

A CELEBRATED TRAVELER AND HER VALUABLE ASSISTANCE TO SCIENCE.

Women, Money and Dress—Spring Millinery—Mme. Adam on Her Countrywomen—Civility to Women—Sorosis' New President—Will Wear Short Skirts.

One of the most distinguished woman travelers of the day is Alice Le Plongeon, wife of the explorer, Dr. Le Plongeon. She has recently been honored by a request from the Geographical society of Paris for her photograph, to place in its album of celebrated travelers, in recognition of her services to science.

Mme. Le Plongeon was born in the great city of London. Her girlhood was as uneventful as that of most maidens who are kept at their studies and allowed very few frivolous pleasures. Her ambition was to travel over the world. When yet in her teens, she met Dr. Le Plongeon in the libraries of the British museum, he having journeyed thither from California for the special purpose of studying certain old Spanish manuscripts. Kindred tastes drew together the learned man and the schoolgirl.

Their wedding journey was a long one—from England to Yucatan—and Mme. Le Plongeon has the distinction of being the only woman who has lived among the deserted and ruined old cities in the forests of Central America. She endured much hardship and escaped numerous dangers during her 12 years' residence in Yucatan, but the many really wonderful things discovered by her husband and herself have fully repaid them for their years of hardship. Just at present the two travelers are in New York.

Perhaps the most wonderful of their discoveries was the key to the inscription by means of which the history of these cities, which were in ruins even at the time of Cortes' invasion, is no longer a mystery.

One has but to read Dr. Le Plongeon's latest book, "Queen Moo and the Egyptian Sphinx," to be convinced that America boasts of ruins which even antedate some of Egyptian antiquity. That Dr. Le Plongeon discovered this key is as much an event in the world of science as the finding of the Rosetta stone.

Mme. Le Plongeon, by the way, speaks Maya quite as fluently as English, and she relates many interesting incidents relative to the social customs of Merida, the capital of Yucatan. It is by no means a dead and buried city, but thoroughly alive. The residences, many of them, are handsome and spacious. The women are noted for their beauty, which is of the Spanish type. Spanish is spoken to a great extent. They dress beautifully in frocks which are quite up to date in every way, and many girls and boys of the wealthy classes are sent to the United States to be educated. The carnival preceding Lent is quite as gay a function at Merida as at New Orleans or Nice.

Appropos to Queen Moo, she was one of the rulers of the ancient Mayas, and in connection with her history is the interesting fact that the charred heart of her brother-husband, Coh, was found by the Le Plongeon. It was in a stone urn, placed within the statue of the dead and departed Coh in his mausoleum. The heart was preserved in red oxide of mercury, and has been analyzed by a chemist at the American Antiquarian society. A photograph of these relics, together with 1,000 others, all of them taken by Mme. Le Plongeon, and tracings of the walls and many casts are counted among her treasures.

A beautifully preserved statue was found by Dr. Le Plongeon—one of the most perfect ever discovered—but to prevent its falling into the hands of the Mexican authorities, who claimed all notable "finds," the statue was hidden, and no one knows of its hiding place to this day but the doctor and his wife. Possibly they may return some day and secure this and other treasures.—Eleanor Lexington in Chicago Record.

Women, Money and Dress.

"Leaving aside the question of self support, the ability to clothe one's self tastefully and economically is something in which nowadays every girl has a right to expect a thorough training," writes Jeanne Favvel in "The Woman's Home Companion." "Tell her the cost of the fabrics, the trimmings, the linings, and, above all, if you would teach her economy, be not hasty in relieving her of all responsibility in the purchasing of materials. Give her an allowance, no matter how small, to be expended on her dress and for her daily expenses, whatever they may be. Show her from the beginning how to spend it. The necessary outlay must be made in any event, and if she is given to understand from the first that she is a silent partner, as it were, the experience necessary to enable her to manage alone will soon come, and the day that brings her her own money to portion out will not find her at a loss to know how to make both ends meet.

"The time has come when the fresh hat and gown must be got. She has carefully laid by a little money for her clothes, and, like a sensible girl, she is ing to a good store to buy good materials. That is economy. You have taught her not to stop to look at the light blues and rose tints or the fabric that is the rage just now and will be out of fashion within two months, but instead to select a good, serviceable, standard cloth, and stylish withal as to color and design. You will show her how to have it tastefully made and in a manner suitable for the times when it will be worn, and you will do this not because you could not do without her help in the choosing or the making, but because you want her to learn the value of money and the art of dressing herself becomingly and inexpensively. The girl who buys her own dresses and pays for the making of such portions as she cannot as yet make by herself soon learns what they are really worth and just how much was expended in unnecessary waste.

"The girl who knows nothing of the value of money is not fit to be the mistress of a household, to control money or to be the wife of either a rich or a poor man. When her prince comes, he may ask her to control a tiny cottage, in which love and happiness may be found. But how can she when her clothes and her follies of a season require more money than he would make in a year?"

Spring Millinery.

From present appearances the fashions in millinery are to be as varied as they have been all winter, and no one particular style will be absolute. The English walking hat will be quite as much in favor as it has been all winter, and the lines on many of the new shapes are both artistic and becoming. This style of hat will be in both smooth and fancy straw. The rolling brim will be bound with velvet or entirely faced with soft velvet puffings, whichever is most becoming and best suited to the wearer. The long cock's plumes and breasts will both be used in trimming, and, while the general effect of these hats will be somewhat heavy, as is always the case, the way in which the trimming is put on around the crown will modify it. Big picture hats are to be fashionable, and some have narrow, high pointed crowns, others soft, broad ones. Very often the brim will be of straw and the crown of velvet, satin or silk. Long ostrich feathers will again be used and are most gracefully disposed so that one often rests on the hair. The brims of most of the new hats—that is, the large ones—turn off the face very abruptly, and there is some trimming underneath them. A bow or knot of ribbon will fasten in a long plume, the end of which will go down on the hair or over the brim on the outside of the hat. Knots of flowers are also put under the brim.

Small bunnets are exceedingly attractive—the Dutch and the Normandie shape and also those made of jet or rhinestones in coronets. The one feather which has nodded so bravely all winter will have another to bear it company or will be added to by an aigret. It seems, in some instances, as if the very elaborate hair ornaments which have been worn at the opera were to be the summer bunnets, with the addition of bows of tulle and lace.—Harper's Bazar.

Mme. Adam on Her Countrywomen.

Mme. Adam, who is one of the cleverest French writers, voices an opinion on the status of women in France in a very delightful article, from which the following has been culled as the essence of its pithiness:

"In my opinion the question of the emancipation of the middle class woman, though no one was aware of it, received its greatest impulse in France during the siege of Paris, wherein she showed herself truly the equal, if not the superior, of man by her courage, patriotism, charity and endurance. Women incessantly left their homes on ambulance duty or hospital duty. She played the part which ancient and modern social traditions, with one accord, assign to woman. Men then learned to talk to her of other things than gossip. The vast majority of weakly or pleasure seeking women had left Paris in panic. A selection had been made.

"The drawing together and the fusion of the classes was an extraordinary phenomenon at that period, which paved the way for the solidarity which is the kernel of the social question. All men and women were suffering from the same patriotic anxiety. During the siege one breathed a moral atmosphere which, by a process hasty but at the same time durable, heated to the welding point social questions and accelerated their solution. Since the siege Frenchwomen of the middle class—the class which is now dominant—have awakened from their apathy. They have begun by cricket, lawn tennis, riding. The mania for sport of every description has inspired our young women with enthusiasm, and in their turn our girls have been brought up in the American and English style. Last came the crowning of this initiation into the equal rights of women—the bicycle."

Civility to Women.

At Thirty-fourth street and Lexington avenue one recent evening the passengers from a down town car attempted to decant themselves into a cross-town car. There were the usual hustle and hurry, the customary jostle and jam, incident to such operations. Also usual and none the less customary was the fact that of the 18 men and 2 women who constituted the decanting crowd, the 18 men, every one of them, succeeded in boarding the cross town car before the 2 women. The latter just had to stand back and look on while the lords of creation struggled and swarmed and seethed into the vehicle, after which, the coast being clear, the two women meekly got on board and were permitted to gaze upon the 18 men, by this time all comfortably seated.

There wasn't so much as a suggestion from the men that the women should take precedence in the matter of entrance, much less that they were entitled to anything like assistance or even civility. It was, in fact, just as it always is, though that of course doesn't make it any the less regrettable. Because a thing has become habitual that doesn't say that it is any the less indecent. The fact is that people have become perfectly hardened to seeing women subjected to this sort of thing. Familiarity has bred a kind of obliviousness. But, as a matter of fact, if the rampant reformers want to turn their attention to something that would be both practical and novel, let them tackle this subject of civility. Women have long talked "women's rights," meaning thereby those rights that women haven't. And men have long talked about the courtesies and favors that women receive in lieu of "rights." But, candidly, is not the one quite as much a missing quantity as the other?—New York Sun.

SHAKERS AND DOCTORS TALK TOGETHER.

In his able work entitled "Longevity," published a few years ago, Dr. John Gardner, of England, predicts that a vegetable agent will yet be found that shall so retard these changes that bring about old age as to prolong human life much beyond its present limit.

Acting, perhaps, upon the impulse produced by this thought, many eminent physicians have called from time to time upon the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon to inquire of them concerning the secrets of medicinal plants, in which these sincere, simple-minded and God-fearing people are known to be wise and skillful beyond all other men.

The Shakers willingly told what they had learned, and in return received from their visitors much valuable information about disease; which they at once made practical use of. The most important point was that if a genuine and certain remedy could be found for indigestion and dyspepsia, and the ailments growing out of it a long step would be taken in the right direction. Old age, said these physicians, begins in a failure of the digestion, and so do most diseases at any and all periods of life. The result of these consultations was the discovery by the Shakers of the desired specific, made wholly from herbs, and now known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. Its action is magical and worthy of its origin.

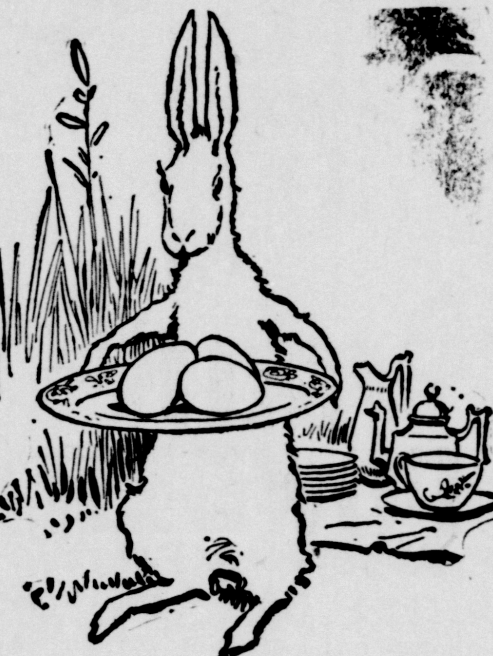

Where there is distress after eating, heartburn, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, biliousness, weakness and weariness, cold hands and feet, aversion to food, nervousness, or any other symptom of dyspepsia, the Cordial will prove its curative virtues. Behind it is the reputation of a people who have never defrauded or deceived their fellow men.

In order to test whether this remedy is adapted to your case, at practically no cost, you may procure a trial bottle for ten cents of almost any druggist.

ELY'S CREAM BALM is a positive cure. Apply into the nostrils. It is quickly absorbed. 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; samples 10c. by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York City.

BREAKS OF SPEECH.

A COLLECTION OF CURIOUS AND AMUSING PHRASES.

The Careless Arrangement of Words—Some Object Lessons in the Danger of Mixing One's Metaphors—A Coroner's Verdict.

THE following collection of curious phrases is taken from the Ram's Horn:

A coroner's jury in Maine reported that "Deceased came to his death by excessive drinking, producing apoplexy in the minds of the jury."

An old French lawyer, writing of an estate he had just bought, added: "There is a chapel upon it in which my wife and I wish to be buried, if God spares our lives."

On a tombstone in Indiana is the following inscription: "This monument was erected to the memory of John Jinkins, accidentally shot as a mark of affection by his brother."

A Michigan editor received some verses not long ago with the following note of explanation: "These lines were written fifty years ago by one who has, for a long time, slept in his grave merely for pastime."

A certain politician, lately condemning the government for its policy concerning the income tax, is reported to have said: "They'll keep cutting the wool off the sheep that lays the golden eggs until they pump it dry."

An orator at one of the university unions bore off the palm when he declared that "the British lion, whether it is roaming the deserts of India or climbing the forests of Canada, will not draw in its horns nor retire into its shell."

A reporter in describing the murder of a man named Jorkin said: "The murderer was evidently in quest of money; but luckily Mr. Jorkin had deposited all his funds in the bank the day before, so that he lost nothing but his life."

A merchant who died suddenly left in his bureau a letter to one of his correspondents which he had not sealed. His clerk, seeing it necessary to send the letter, wrote at the bottom: "Since writing the above I have died."

An Oklahoma editor expresses his thanks for a basket of oranges thus: "We have received a basket of oranges from our friend, Gus Bradley, for which he will please accept our compliments, some of which are nearly six inches in diameter."

The Morning Post in 1812 made the following statement: "We congratulate ourselves most on having torn off Cobbett's mask and revealed his cloven foot. It was high time that the hydra head of faction should be soundly capped over the knuckles."

An English lecturer on chemistry said: "One drop of this poison placed on the tongue of a cat is sufficient to kill the strongest man," and an English lieutenant said that the Royal Niger company wished to kill him to prevent his going up the river until next year.

A clergyman in an eastern town warned his hearers lately "not to walk in a slippery path, lest they be sucked maelstrom-like, into its meshes!" This metaphor suggests that of another clergyman who prayed that "the word might be as a nail driven in a sure place, sending its roots downward and its branches upward."

The present duke of Leeds is reported to have accused the late government of making a direct attack on the brewers by means of a side wind. It was during the late administration that one of the Irish whips telegraphed to Dublin that "the silence of the Irish members would be heard in the house of commons no longer."

It was the celebrated Sergt. Arabin who, at the Central Criminal court informed the prisoner before him that "if there was a clearer case of man robbing his master that case was this case," and, after passing sentence, concluded: "I, therefore, give you the opportunity of redeeming a character irretrievably lost."

In the Irish house of commons of 1795, during a debate on the leather tax, the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir John Parnell, observed that, "in the prosecution of the present war every one ought to be ready to give his last guinea to save the remainder of his fortune." Mr. Vandeleur replied that "a tax on leather would press very heavily on the barefooted peasantry of Ireland."

At a recent temperance gathering an orator exclaimed: "The glorious work will never be accomplished until the good ship Temperance shall sail from one end of the land to the other, and with a cry of 'Victory!' at each step she takes shall plant her banner in every city, town and village of the United States." Another speaker said that "All along the untrodden paths of the future we can see the hidden footprints of an unseen hand." "We pursue the shadow, the bubble bursts and leaves the ashes in our hands!"

Food Ill Digested
Imperfectly nourishes the system, since it is only partially assimilated by the blood. Pale, haggard face, with dyspeptic stomach, impoverished circulation, and weak nerves, experience a marked and rapid improvement in their physical condition by availing themselves of that sure resource—the sick and debilitated, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This gentle tonic and alternative acts on the system, and produces a healthy condition of the materials of blood, fiber and muscular tissue. Moreover, it soothes and strengthens overworked or weak nerves, counteracts a tendency to hypochondria or despondency, to which dyspeptic and bilious persons are peculiarly liable, and is an agreeable and wholesome appetizer and promoter of repose. The influence of age, and of delicate female constitutions, are greatly relieved by it; and it is a reliable preventive of, and remedy for, malarial fevers.

SKIRTS AND TRIMMINGS.

Handsome Buttons For Trimming—Belts, Corsets and Collarettes.

It is predicted that ruffled skirts will be a notable feature in summer fashions. Besides these, the plain skirt will also be worn—that is, the straight skirt, but it is likely to be much trimmed. Panels of embroidery or of different material at the sides or fronts, embroidered or braided and framed in quilts of application, are likely to be favorite styles of adornment. Some costume models show the bodice also trimmed in the latter style, the plastron seeming a continuation of the tablier. Buttons of gold, steel, pearl and paste are still much employed for trimming, being placed on tabs, straps, pocket flaps and plaits. The bolero also continues to hold its own, with the accompanying belts and corsets. Collarettes of lace and gauze are in favor, without prejudice to the straight collar, which serves as a support to them and finishes the gown, giving it a smartness in spite of the frivolous furbelows. The latest arrangement is a very full double or triple frill of lace or gauze, high at the back and tapering to nothing in front. This surmounts the straight collar very effectively.

Short ostrich feather and coq boas are worn, but not in such a variety of color as formerly. Black now predominates, although gray is also seen. Collarettes of ostrich tips, with a high collar and a large bow at the back of the neck, are also in vogue and are expensive luxuries.

An illustration is given of an evening dress of cream mousseline de soie. The bodice is plain, with three bands of pink satin ribbon near the foot and is mounted over a plain skirt of cream satin. The cream satin bodice has a square décolletage, bordered back and front by three bands of black velvet. The back is stretched, while the front is gathered at the waist. Three straps of cream guipure trim the bodice before and behind. The short, puffed sleeve of mousseline de soie terminates in a frill and is trimmed with coques of pink ribbon. The belt is also of pink ribbon, tying at the left side with long ends.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Costumes Both Elaborate and Severe. The Tailor Made Gown.

Nearly all tastes may be suited by the present mode, there is so much variety afforded. Every woman may choose what best becomes her and belongs most appropriately to her condition of life without fear of seeming out of date. Princess gowns are in fashion, for instance, but not exclusively so, and nobody is required to wear them under penalty of appearing odd. Plain and elaborate gowns are in vogue simultaneously. There are simple jackets and others covered with embroidery and braiding, capes of varied lengths and adornments, long redingotes of elegant simplicity—in fact, fashion is now nearly all embracing and so catholic that all tastes may be more or less suited.

The tailor made gown, like death, has all seasons for its own and is always in the mode. But each season sees it modified and changed more or less, although it always retains its characteristic plainness. It is adorned with straight or sinuous stitching, plaits, straps, tabs, galloon, soutache and embroidery. Beige, gray or chambray cloth is employed for them, and tones of blue, green and violets are also seen, although the neutral tints predominate. Covert cloth in various shades of gray, beige, tan and brown is one of the very best, neatest and most serviceable materials for these costumes.

Black embroideries on white and all light tones, whether the ground material be cloth or silk, are increasingly employed for revers, plastrons, vests and similar accessories. There are also openwork goods of black silk, somewhat like all over embroidery or lace, which are used over colored goods very effectively.

Today's sketch shows a spring costume having a hazel brown skirt of veiling, which is trimmed near the foot by two ruffles of black satin ribbon arranged in randoes. The figure of the same material is striped all over with bands of satin ribbon. It is cut away in front to show a vest of pink gauze, gathered at the neck and waist, and folds back to form revers, which join on the straight collar. The toque of pink roses is trimmed with an albert bow of black velvet.

Upon receiving his ballot, voter must retire, alone, to a booth or compartment, and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot, can be taken into the booth and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on outside can be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his official ballot, can have assistance of one or to election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter. The presiding officer may administer an oath, in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:
